Thanks to the generosity of our patients, their relatives and carers – and people from across North Derbyshire – the Chesterfield Royal Hospital Charity is able to give the gift of ‘outstanding’ – helping patients to receive the very best care and treatment; and providing staff with a great place to work.

How your donations make a difference

Donations and legacies to the Chesterfield Royal Hospital Charity benefit patients and staff in a number of ways.

We invest in ideas that enhance patient care and experience by:

Improving the environment and facilities on offer; and upgrading equipment.

Relaxation gardens, new restaurant facilities, an MRI scanner and state-of-the-art wheelchairs are just some examples of how charitable donations have been used to benefit our patients, relatives and visitors.

We support suggestions that look after staff by:

Caring for their wellbeing and providing extra education and training.

Water stations and bottles for hydration at work, massages and mental health support and access to Human Factors training are some of the ways the charity has helped to make sure that staff are looked after at work, so they can look after our patients.

We need your support

We can't make a difference to patients and staff without your support. Here are some of the ways you can help us:

Make a donation

Using the form over the page

Donate on-line

www.justgiving.com/chesterfield-royalhospital

Hold your own fundraising event

And ask your family, friends and work colleagues to sponsor you

Make us your chosen charity for a year or more

Schools, community groups and businesses

Leaving a gift in your will

It is relatively easy to do, will be free from inheritance tax, and doesn't cost you a penny during your lifetime. You can choose to gift to an area of the hospital if you want your legacy to benefit somewhere specific

Your donations and support mean we can go above and beyond – offering more than what might be possible through ‘normal NHS funding’.
